Finland Has Red Promise to Pull Out

MOSCOW, (UP) — A Finnish delegation headed by President Juho Paasikivi took off for Helsinki today with a Soviet promise to pull out of the big Porkkala naval base on the Baltic.

They were seen off by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, President Klement Voroshilov, Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov and First Deputy Premier Mikhail Pavlovskii.

A Red army guard of honor was lined up at the airport, which was draped with Finnish and Soviet flags.

The Finns would up five days of negotiations in which the Soviets agreed to return to Porkkala base. The two countries also agreed to extend their 1948 treaty of friendship and mutual assistance between the two countries.

I Am in the Business

Of Repealing Laws, Not Passing New Ones

Editor: The Star: Will you please a law to stop people from drinking liquor on television? I think it's bad for young folks.

Enclosed herewith one dollar for you to send me your paper a few weeks. I like your editorials.

ANN PAIRISH
Sept. 3, 1955
618 Center St.
Conway, Ark.

If you note the date of the lady's letter you will observe that I am playing her a shabby trick, using up most of her dollar before writing a reply not for her but for me. It may be she's like the rest of us and enjoys bouncing the ball of controversy.

Of course I'm not about to promote a law to stop people from drinking liquor on television.

I wouldn't even promote a law to stop television entirely.

Some people might make a plausible case for either proposition. They would have you believe that a handful of people knowing nothing at all about either the entertainment or electronics industries could vote down the bill and shown on TV screens without destroying the business.

They might say that TV ought really to be abolished because it is a menace to the home-work of children and a threat to the book-reading habits of adults completely ignoring the fact that if they are on solid ground now they should have forbidden radio three decades ago and suppressed newspapers a century earlier.

I didn't invent television and the idea that I or any group of solvent and well-meaning citizens have an obligation to control it is a whimsical fantasy.

My obligation as an editor is not to drum up new and oppressive laws in the foolish belief that more laws make better men, but rather to work for repeal of the laws in the foolish belief that the oppressive laws that have already proven failures in the past.

The obligation to repeal laws in a civilized society is positive, not negative. It must awaken citizens to the realization that the genius of men may bring forth in the form of invention the natural common sense of men may have the capacity to handle properly.

Repeal laws deny that the violent fact — the result being that as inventions multiply the honors held upon investors multiply with them, while as laws multiply the prestige in which the law and the law-maker are held grows to a point where the law is held in a sea of public indifference and contempt.

Returning to my correspondent's letter, if you are going to try to hide from children the fact that they are drinking, throughout America and the world you won't accomplish it by censoring television programs. You will get further by censoring the individual home receiving set.

TV, like movies, radio, books and periodicals, has something for everybody, but at stated times of the program day. If some of the small fry are staying up late and being corrupted by shows designed for adults it seems to me this is more the responsibility of the set-owners than the broadcaster — who has to have something the adults recognize is real in order to stay in business.

It is a family problem, of course. This old bachelor dodges it by retreating to his TV set and pursuing books that are seldom designed for children. Publishers distribute books that are seldom read by children.

Parents who let their kids into the room when they are reading "em. But whose hands we let them fall into is the personal responsibility of every householder in this broad land of both grownups and kids.

Here Are Scenes Photographed on Southern Section of Third District Stock Show Motorcade Wednesday

The pictures above were made yesterday by C. M. Rogers of The Star staff on the southern section of the annual Stock Show motorcade, to be followed tomorrow by the pictures of the northern section.

TOP LEFT — The 24 cars of the combined motorcades made their first stop at Prescott, where the Nashville High School Band played a concert honoring Opening Day of the Nevada County Fair. At Prescott, the two sections of the motorcade split, the southern group with its cars and the Nashville band heading for Camden, Ark. and the northern group heading for Hot Springs, Ark.

TOP RIGHT — Next stop on the southern section of the tour was Camden, and this picture shows Hope Mayor Elton H. M. Olsen handing a Stock Show promotion sheet to Earl Clinton, former Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. manager here and now holding the same office at Camden. In the middle is the city manager of Camden, Charles C. Moore.

BOTTOM LEFT — On the left from Camden, lunch at El Dorado was delayed for Ben Owen and his station wagon passengers when they had to wait for a car to be repaired. However, the trouble was repaired and they made it to the dinner table along with the rest of the motorcade.

1,950 Cases of Polio Reported

WASHINGTON — New polio cases reported last week to the Health Service totaled 1,950, continuing the slight weekly decrease first recorded early this year.

In its weekly report today, the Health Service noted that the total included 13 delayed reports from Missouri.

The total was 50 below the 2,000 new cases in the week ended Sept. 10 and was 724 under the 2,674 in the comparable 1954 week.

For 1955, there have been 20,168 cases, compared with 23,998 up to this time a year ago.

A Health Service spokesman said indications now are that the year's total will not exceed 35,000. He may drop as low as 30,000. The 1954 total was 23,741.

The spokesman said new cases may drop off sharply beginning next week after Sept. 21. On the basis of statistical experience, the season's high incidence is coming to an end.

Massachusetts again led the states in the case list last week with 270, compared with 290 the previous week.

New York was second, with 251, a slight increase over the 243 in the week ended Sept. 10.

22 Towns Are Visited on Show Tour

The motorcade advertising the Third District Livestock Show left Hope early Wednesday morning for Camden, Ark., where it will be followed by the Nashville band heading for Hot Springs, Ark.

Eleven cars went to Camden, El Dorado, Magnolia, Texarkana, Tex. Fred Greenham was at the microphone and Scrub Mosier led the motorcade. The Nashville band went with this group. They had lunch at the Coffee Cup in El Dorado.

The other group went to Gurdan, Arkadelphia, Hot Springs, Nashville with Travis Ward leading the motorcade. The Light Guard Band followed. The group was led by Haskell Jones at the microphone. There were ten cars in the motorcade. This group had lunch at Phillips Cafe in Hot Springs.

Emil Kaden chairman of the Merchants Committee of the Hope Chamber of Commerce and Carl A. Bryan manager wish to thank each and every person who participated. Some 22 towns were visited. It is planned to reach out even further next year. So make your plans now to help develop the livestock show and so did the local livestock show.

Two members of the band, besides their lunch and dinner the band members were given, as a small token of appreciation, passes to the showgrounds and tickets to musical revue along with a big band and orchestra.

Wayne C. Cronin of Elvins, Kan. was very proud of its fine band and so is Hope.

No Agreement in Telephone Talks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Disagreement over a general wage increase for some 50,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employees in six states has brought contract negotiations to a standstill, a spokesman for the CIO Communications Workers reports.

Frank Lonergan, the unions' assistant director, said yesterday the general wage increase is "the main stumbling block."

The company's offer of an increase averaging five cents an hour as part of a two-year contract was "entirely inadequate," he declared.

Kress Five and Dime Founder Dies

$5,000 Ransom Note in Case Missing Baby

Ransom note demanding $5,000 from the parents of the abducted five-day-old Robert Marcus was received today but the writer failed to show up when the father went to the designated rendezvous point.

In another late development, a woman answering the general description of the person believed to have kidnapped the Marcus baby was seen attempting to steal a car from a clothesline early this morning.

A letter addressed to Dr. Sanford Marcus threatening damage to his kidnapped child was turned up at the main post office at Oakland, Calif., late yesterday. A postal worker held out the special delivery letter because it was lacking three cents postage. He notified it was addressed to Marcus and immediately notified authorities.

Marcus complained with the writhe that he was being held in a room on a street corner at 8 a.m. today but after 12 hours wait no one showed up and the distraught father returned to San Francisco.

Police said the letter might have been a "crucial and sensitive" matter but they were continuing to investigate it.

Survey Started of Downtown Property

Hempstead County's Equalization Board, now in session at the Courthouse, is going over assessments of real and personal property.

The board's announced today that a survey is being made of both personal and real property. The purpose is to make equitable assessments at the 20 percent level.

The board's survey and assistance will be appreciated and helpful to the Board, Kenneth Hamilton, a member announced.

Seeks Bolster for Sagging Farm Income

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration looked to the National Agricultural Advisory Commission today for suggestions on how to bolster sagging farm income.

The 18-member bipartisan body of farm leaders was appointed last year by President Eisenhower. It meets quarterly with the president and his staff to discuss farm problems.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said the commission will go over proposals for aiding farmers by increasing farm income.

The secretary said last week that the administration will offer specific recommendations to Congress. Suggestions of the commission doubtless will help formulate administration proposals.

The commission was appointed by President Eisenhower to review government farm policies and programs and to offer advice on ways to improve them. It played a major role in the development of the farm program which the President recommended to Congress last year and which was written into law.

Adenauer in Warning of East Relations

By GEORGE BOUTWOLD
BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared today that West Germany would regard it as an "unfriendly act" if any third nation established diplomatic relations with Communist East Germany.

Opening Bundestag debate on his proposal to open formal relations with East Germany, Adenauer stressed his government's adamant refusal to acknowledge the legitimacy of the Communist German regime. The regime was given sovereignty by the Russians in negotiations in Moscow this week.

Adenauer declared the East regime had the support of no more than 10 per cent of the 18 million East Germans. Therefore, he added, it had no right to speak for Germany. Slowly and firmly, Adenauer added.

He said his state was to establish diplomatic relations with the East German regime we would regard it as an unfriendly act.

The House applauded.

The East German government is recognized only by the Soviet Union and its satellites.

Adenauer was reporting to Parliament on his negotiations with Russian leaders in Moscow which led to an agreement to establish diplomatic relations between Bonn and Moscow. The government is asking Parliament to approve this agreement. An overwhelming favorable vote is certain.

Another Big Hurricane Is Brewing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The season's 10th tropical storm named Janet, spun far out in the Atlantic today and Weather Bureau forecasters predicted it would grow into a hurricane.

It was born just a week after Hurricane Edith, which crashed across the Caribbean and hit Mexico, where the unofficial death toll was 200.

Hilda and one were still on the weather map when Janet was born, although thousands of miles apart.

Blevins School Homemakers Elect New Officers in First Meeting

Thence in one ride, Simon Kenton, later a famous Indian fighter, saved Boone's life.

Finland Has Red Promise to Pull Out

MOSCOW, (UP) — A Finnish delegation headed by President Juho Paasikivi took off for Helsinki today with a Soviet promise to pull out of the big Porkkala naval base on the Baltic.

They were seen off by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, President Klement Voroshilov, Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov and First Deputy Premier Mikhail Pavlov.

A Red army guard of honor was lined up at the airport, which was draped with Finnish and Soviet flags.

The Finns would pay five days of negotiations in which the Soviets agreed to return to Porkkala base. The two countries also agreed to extend their 1948 treaty of friendship and mutual assistance between the two countries.

I Am in the Business

Of Repealing Laws,

Not Passing New Ones

Editor: The Star: Will you please a law to stop people from drinking liquor on television? I think it's bad for young folks.

Enclosed herewith one dollar for you to send me your paper a few weeks. I like your editorials.

Sept. 3, 1955
618 Center St.
Conway, Ark.

ANN PAIRISH

If you note the date of the lady's letter you will observe that I am playing her a shabby trick, using up most of her dollar before writing a reply not for her but for me. Or it may be she's like the rest of us and enjoys bouncing the ball of controversy.

Of course I'm not about to promote a law to stop people from drinking liquor on television.

I wouldn't even promote a law to stop television entirely.

Some people might make a plausible case for either proposition. They would have you believe that a handful of people knowing nothing at all about either the entertainment or electronics industries could vote down the bill.

Shown on TV screens without destroying the business.

They might say that TV ought really to be abolished because it is a menace to the home-work of children and a threat to the book-reading habits of adults.

That if they are on solid ground now they should have forbidden radio three decades ago and suppressed newspapers a century earlier.

didn't invent television and the idea that I'm any group of solvent and well-meaning citizens have an obligation to control it is a whimsical fantasy.

My obligation as an editor is not to drum up new and oppressive laws in the foolish belief that more laws make better men, but rather to work for repeal of the laws that have already proven failures in the past.

The obligation to control in a civilized society is positive, not negative. It must awaken citizens to the realization that the genius of men may bring forth in the form of invention the natural common sense of men may not be able to handle properly.

Repeal laws deny that the violent fact — the result being that as inventions multiply the honors are given to the man who invents them, while as laws multiply the prestige in which the law and the law-maker are held.

Returning to my correspondent's letter, if you are going to try to hide from children the fact that they are drinking, throughout America and the world you won't accomplish it by censoring television programs.

You will get further by censoring the individual home receiving set.

TV, like movies, radio, books and periodicals, has something for everybody, but at stated times of the program day. If some of the small fry are staying up late and being corrupted by shows designed for adults it seems to me this is more the responsibility of the set-owners than the broadcaster — who has to have something the adults recognize is real in order to stay in business.

It is a family problem, of course. This old bachelor dodges it by retreating to his TV set and pursuing books that are seldom designed for children. Publishers distribute books to the parents and read 'em. But whose hands we let them fall into is the personal responsibility of every householder in this broad land of both grownups and kids.

In its weekly report today, the Health Service noted that the total included 13 delayed reports from Missouri.

The total was 50 below the 2,000 new cases in the week ended Sept. 10 and was 724 under the 2,671 in the comparable 1954 week.

For 1955, thus far there have been 20,168 cases, compared with 23,998 up to this time a year ago.

A Health Service spokesman said indications now are that the year's total will not exceed 35,000. He may drop as low as 30,000. The 1954 total was 23,741.

The spokesman said new cases may drop off sharply beginning any week after Sept. 21. On the basis of statistical experience, the season's high incidence is coming to an end.

Massachusetts again led the states in the case this week with 270, compared with 290 the previous week.

New York was second, with 251 a slight increase over the 243 in the week ended Sept. 10.

1956 Ford on Display Here Friday

Safety features offered for the first time by any automobile company, power equal to the Thunderbird, and lower body silhouettes are available in 1956 Ford cars on display at Hope Auto Co. Friday, Sept. 23, 1955.

The new Fords will be built in four series offering 10 body styles, two more than in 1955. They are available in 13 solid exterior colors or 21 two-tone combinations.

A "Thunderbird Y-8" engine leads the power selections available for 1956. It is installed on Fairlane and Station Wagon models, and develops 202 horsepower for Fordomatic, or 200 hp for overdrive or standard transmission. Customline and Mainline Fords offer a Y-8 engine dev-loping 176 hp for Fordomatic or 173 hp for overdrive or conventional transmission. The 176-hp engine is available on all models with all transmission types.

Ford safety research, coupled with studies of medical groups, led to development of a "lifeguard design" in 1956 models.

No door latch gives added protection against the chance that doors may open under impact. They have been proved full scale crash tests at Dearborn, Mich.

To keep the driver's chest from hitting the steering column in a crash, the new three-spoke Ford steering wheel has its center hub recessed 3 1/2 inches below the wheel rim.

Rear view mirrors have a special backing designed to prevent shattering.

Front and rear seat mountings are strengthened so they will resist greater impact.

In addition, Ford offers two optional safety devices. Seat belts, designed to withstand pull up to 4,000 pounds, will help to absorb impact if a person is accidentally thrown forward.

Styling advances in the Ford for 1956 include a new grille with oblong parking lights at the outer ends, set in frames which wrap around the fender sides. Body molding is restyled for Fairlane, Station Wagon, and Customline models. Restyled tail lamps and deck lid handles, a larger recessed hood ornament, and a completely new instrument panel are offered in all models.

The 1956 Victoria is 1 1/2 inches lower than the comparable 1955 model. Two door and four door sedans also have new tops reducing total car height almost a full inch. However, headroom was not reduced since the contour change is mostly along the top center line, and fabric headlinings are installed closer to the steel top.

An addition to the line is the Parklane Station Wagon, a two door car which offers an eight by five-foot load space with tailgate extended. It is fitted inside with deluxe upholstery and trim combinations, and has special bright metal trim inside and outside.

Early in the model year, Ford will start production of a new four door Victoria style in which side pillars have been eliminated to provide all-around vision.

A 12-volt electrical system is standard on 1956 models, providing 80 per cent faster engine cranking and more capacity to handle the increasing number of accessories being ordered on cars today. The new 30-ampere Ford generator has 61 per cent greater power output than last year's model. Batteries have 22 per cent more capacity.

Optional convenience and comfort features in the 1956 Fords include power steering, as well as power-operated brakes, seats, and window lifts. Air conditioning, fresh air heaters, and tinted safety glass are available. This year Ford offers a signal seeking radio which automatically selects new stations. A dual range automatic control adjusts the set for city or country listening.

If a piece of magnesium is attached to a ship or buried pipe, the magnesium will dissolve completely before the steel begins to corrode.

Eight Convicts Escape Prison in Louisiana

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
 ANGOLA, La. (AP) — Searchers swarming over a two-acre area today captured three of eight "dangerous" convicts who fled the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola in a stolen car.

Warden Maurice Sigler said the trio was flushed from the area by a patrol near Greenview Plantation, about 10 miles northwest of St. Francisville.

The town is about 20 miles south of the state penitentiary and is the nearest community of any size to Angola.

Sigler said there is still no trace of the other five.

The three captured were Francis R. Heuman, 22, of 2315 N. Y. John W. Gilroy, 23, of 2315 N. Y. and Julius Glatt, 23, of New Orleans.

They told Sigler they had separated from the other five and remained hidden in the swampy area near a road.

The search centered in a hilly wooded area along the Mississippi River between Angola, 70 miles north of Baton Rouge, and Woodville, Miss.

Prison officials with no concrete leads also searched the net over a much wider area.

It was the largest break from the 18,000-acre prison farm in 20 years.

That is a bunch of rough characters," said Warden Maurice Sigler. "There's not one of them that isn't a dangerous man."

Sigler said they had four rifles taken from guards and from 19 to 25 pounds of ammunition. They were last seen in a two-door green car with Pennsylvania license plates.

He identified the leader as Luther R. Talley, 38-year-old Tulsa, Okla., a convict serving 25 years from Caddo Parish for attempted murder and simple burglary.

Talley was caught breaking into a Shreveport warehouse last year. Attempting to escape, he was shot by a policeman and was shot eight times before capture.

Sigler said the men were from camp H2, maximum security unit where the toughest men in the prison are kept. They were working in the cane fields when the break occurred late yesterday afternoon.

The men were divided in groups of seven, each with a armed guard, cutting ditch banks.

Sigler said Talley, file man who moved from group to group sharpening axes, grabbed guard Alton Bordelon from behind. Another convict quickly helped him grab Bordelon's gun. Swiftly, they captured guards Lesley Bodelon and Alton, Carl Clark and Cleon Blades.

Six other convicts joined them.

Both Parties May Spend $6 Million

By DON WHITEHEAD
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic and Republican parties likely will spend a whopping six million dollars between them to carry the 1956 presidential campaign, according to a new survey by the Advance estimates indicate the Democratic party will be the largest single spender in the campaign.

East party will spend about double the amount spent in 1952. The money will come from the treasuries of the national committees, State committees and allied citizen groups.

By law, the national committees may collect and spend only three millions each in financing the entire campaign. But each party can sidestep this limitation by having state organizations and citizens' groups pick up the check.

The Republicans already are dickering with the national network for favorable TV spots next fall, particularly in the last six weeks of the campaign. They have the money to buy the spots.

The Democrats say they haven't begun negotiations with the network yet, but they also will serve time far in advance of the campaign stretch drive.

Party leaders in 1952 had little or no experience with television as a campaign medium and this lack of experience was conspicuous. In the heat of the campaign, critics in times arise when party leaders consider it worth almost any price to get their story to the people.

They are now more than ready to do it. They are now more than ready to do it. They are now more than ready to do it.

Wyatt Moans Over His 'Green' Team

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Bowen Wyatt, a former star end in Tennessee, makes his debut as head football coach of his alma mater Saturday when the Volunteers play host to Mississippi State.

Wyatt will field what he calls "one of the greenest teams in Tennessee football history. We hope to make up for some of our inexperience with hustle and determination."

The Tennessee roster, after three weeks of drills, is down to six seniors, 17 juniors and 28 sophomores.

Wyatt and three members of his staff scouted the Maroons in their 14-20 loss to Florida State Saturday and they came away vividly impressed with the over-all strength of the team.

"They showed me a terrific ground game, a lot of fleet and hard-running backs four as fine as you'll find on any one team and plenty of guts, rugged line," said Wyatt.

The Tennessee team will build the communications system and lease it to the Air Force at regular charges for a 10-year period. En-

Police Search for Blonde in Kidnaping

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee launched an investigation today of what House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts called a "bonanza contract" between the Air Force and private telephone companies.

The Air Force replied that the contract plans had been fully reported to congressional committees earlier this year, and that Congress had already appropriated "substantial" funds for sites and construction of facilities. It said cancellation of the contract now might make the government liable for a penalty which could reach 22 million dollars.

At issue is a contract for conversion of the present air defense communications system to a "semiautomatic ground environment" (SAGE) system. The Air Force contract is with a group of private companies headed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Western Electric Co.

The companies would build the communications system and lease it to the Air Force at regular charges for a 10-year period. En-

Duchin Story Combines Music, Drama

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some people get bitten by the acting bug, others inherit the disease. Tyrone Power is one of the latter.

In his case, it goes "way back." He is the third of the acting Tyrone Powers, and the most famous in the line. His family background helps explain why he will soon be abandoning Hollywood for the stage.

Tyrone could find enough leading roles here to keep him busy for a lifetime.

In New York, an AT&T spokesman said, "We were asked to do a job by the Defense Department and we undertook to do it, just as we would for any other customer."

Western Electric said its part was to build a system of engineering and installation work and would not extend through the 10-year period.

The basis of Campbell's ruling was that existing law permitting execution of ordinary utility contracts for up to 10 years does not apply to contracts of such "magnitude" and that it does not authorize contracts or commitments for programs not already approved by Congress.

Ike Contented Fishing and Cooking

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
 FRASER, Colo. (AP) — Give President Eisenhower a trout rod and let him do some cooking too and he's a real contented man.

Well, he got the rod and he's been catching fish. And he's also doing a heap of cooking.

The President arrived here yesterday morning from the Denver White House for another five days of relaxation at the Rocky Mountain ranch of an old friend, investment banker Aksel Nielsen. This is his second visit here since he came to Colorado for a work-and-play vacation Aug. 14.

An hour and 15 minutes from the time he stepped out of his car at the ranch, he was wading cold, reports on the course of the Louie Creek, casting a dry fly for

1956 Ford on Display Here Friday

Safety features offered for the first time by any automobile company, power equal to the Thunderbird, and lower body silhouettes are available in 1956 Ford cars on display at Hope Auto Co. Friday, Sept. 23, 1955.

The new Fords will be built in four series offering 10 body styles, two more than in 1955. They are available in 13 solid exterior colors or 21 two-tone combinations.

A "Thunderbird Y-8" engine leads the power selections available for 1956. It is installed on Fairlane and Station Wagon models, and develops 202 horsepower for Fordomatic, or 200 hp for overdrive or standard transmission. Customline and Mainline Fords offer a Y-8 engine dev-loping 176 hp for Fordomatic or 173 hp for overdrive or conventional transmission. The 173-hp engine is available on all models with all transmission types.

Ford safety research, coupled with studies of medical groups, led to development of a "lifeguard design" in 1956 models.

No door latch gives added protection against the chance that doors may open under impact. They have been proved full scale crash tests at Dearborn, Mich.

To keep the driver's chest from hitting the steering column in a crash, the new three-spoke Ford steering wheel has its center hub recessed 3 1/2 inches below the wheel rim.

Rear view mirrors have a special backing designed to prevent shattering.

Front and rear seat mountings are strengthened so they will resist greater impact.

In addition, Ford offers two optional safety devices. Seat belts, designed to withstand pull up to 4,000 pounds, will help to absorb impact if a person is accidentally thrown forward.

Styling advances in the Ford for 1956 include a new grille with oblong parking lights at the outer ends, set in frames which wrap around the fender sides. Body molding is restyled for Fairlane, Station Wagon, and Customline models. Restyled tail lamps and deck lid handles, a larger recessed hood ornament, and a completely new instrument panel are offered in all models.

The 1956 Victoria is 1 1/2 inches lower than the comparable 1955 model. Two door and four door sedans also have new tops reducing total car height almost a full inch. However, headroom was not reduced since the contour change is mostly along the top center line, and fabric headlinings are installed closer to the steel top.

An addition to the line is the Parklane Station Wagon, a two door car which offers an eight by five-foot load space with tailgate extended. It is fitted inside with deluxe upholstery and trim combinations, and has special bright metal trim inside and outside.

Early in the model year, Ford will start production of a new four door Victoria style in which side pillars have been eliminated to provide all-around vision.

A 12-volt electrical system is standard on 1956 models, providing 80 per cent faster engine cranking and more capacity to handle the increasing number of accessories being ordered on cars today. The new 30-ampere Ford generator has 61 per cent greater power output than last year's model. Batteries have 22 per cent more capacity.

Optional convenience and comfort features in the 1956 Fords include power steering, as well as power-operated brakes, seats, and window lifts. Air conditioning, fresh air heaters, and tinted safety glass are available. This year Ford offers a signal seeking radio which automatically selects new stations. A dual range automatic control adjusts the set for city or country listening.

If a piece of magnesium is attached to a ship or buried pipe, the magnesium will dissolve completely before the steel begins to corrode.

Eight Convicts Escape Prison in Louisiana

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
 ANGOLA, La. (AP) — Searchers swarming over a two-state area today captured three of eight "dangerous" convicts who fled the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola in a stolen car.

Warden Maurice Sigler said the trio was flushed from the prison patch near Greenwood Plantation, about 10 miles northwest of St. Francisville.

The town is about 20 miles south of the state penitentiary and is the nearest community of any size to Angola.

Sigler said there is still no trace of the other five.

The three captured were Francis R. Heuman, 22, of 2301 N. Y., John W. Gilroy, 23, of 2301 N. Y., and Julius Glatt, 23, of New Orleans.

They told Sigler they had separated from the other five and remained hidden in the swampy area of a patch near a road.

The search centered in a hilly wooded area along the Mississippi River between Angola, 70 miles north of Baton Rouge, and Woodville, Miss.

Prison officials with no concrete leads also searched the net over a much wider area.

It was the largest break from the 18,000-acre prison farm in 20 years.

That is a bunch of rough characters," said Warden Maurice Sigler. "There's not one of them that isn't a dangerous man."

Sigler said they had four rifles taken from guards and from 19 to 25 pounds of ammunition. They were last seen in a two-door green car with Pennsylvania license plates.

He identified the leader as Luther R. Talley, 38-year-old Tulsa, Okla., a convict serving 25 years from Caddo Parish for attempted murder and simple burglary.

Talley was caught breaking into a Shawneeport warehouse last year. Attempting to escape, he was shot by a policeman and was shot eight times before capture.

Sigler said the men were from camp H2, maximum security unit where the toughest men in the prison are kept. They were working in the cane fields when the break occurred late yesterday afternoon.

The men were divided in groups of seven, each with a armed guard, cutting ditch banks.

Sigler said Talley, file man who moved from group to group sharpening axes, grabbed guard Alton Bordelon from behind. Another convict quickly helped him grab Bordelon's gun. Swiftly, they captured guards Lesley Bodelon and Alton, Carl Clark and Cleon Blades.

Six other convicts joined them.

Both Parties May Spend $6 Million

By DON WHITEHEAD
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic and Republican parties likely will spend a whopping six million dollars between them to carry the 1956 presidential campaign, according to a new survey by the Associated Press.

Advance estimates indicate television will be the largest single item in the campaign budgets. The East party will spend about double the amount spent in 1952. The money will come from the treasuries of the national committees, State committees and allied citizen groups.

By law, the national committees may collect and spend only three millions each in financing the entire campaign. But each party can sidestep this limitation by having state organizations and citizens' groups pick up the check.

The Republicans already are dickering with the national network for favorable TV spots next fall, particularly in the last six weeks of the campaign. They have the money to buy the spots.

The Democrats say they haven't begun negotiations with the network yet.

Party leaders in 1952 had little or no experience with television as a campaign medium and this lack of experience was expensive. In the heat of the campaign, critics said, they had more than $500,000 in expenses for TV spots. In times arise when party leaders consider it worth almost any price to get their story to the people, they are likely to be more generous in their spending.

Producers who gave up the time in addition to the regular network costs.

Some TV network sources have limited that in 1952 the Republicans spent more than $500,000 in buying up expensive time on short notice. Such a moment came when the Republicans rushed to the aid of the new president to the air waves to counter the campaign fund given to him by a group of private citizens.

The Democrats had their own emergencies but their extra costs weren't as heavy as those of the Republicans. And it is no secret that the Democrats must hard their money a good deal more carefully than the Republicans.

Both parties face the problem of heavier costs for TV time, in the wily trout.

He stayed at it for 3 1/2 hours each day, weighing about a pound. As usual when the President visits here, the stream is well stocked.

He passed up having the trout dinner and decided on fried chicken instead. The word was that he spent more than two hours in the kitchen with a white apron tied around his waist.

The word also was that the chicken was delicious.

The President's workshop is an all-electric kitchen in a comfortable prefabricated cottage which Nielsen put up this year.

Staying with him there in addition to Nielsen is another old friend, George C. Allen of Washington, a former Truman administration official.

The President's tentative plans are to remain here until Friday afternoon, then drive back to Denver. He probably won't return to Washington before Oct. 15.

Before going out to the trout stream yesterday, Eisenhower alerted all federal agencies concerned to stand by to provide relief in the wake of any disaster caused by Hurricane Ione in the East.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said the President received a telephone call on the course of the hurricane.

Wyatt Moans Over His 'Green' Team

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Bowen Wyatt, a former star end in Tennessee, makes his debut as head football coach of his alma mater Saturday when the Volunteers play host to Mississippi State.

Wyatt will field what he calls "one of the greenest teams in Tennessee football history. We hope to make up for some of our inexperience with hustle and determination."

The Tennessee roster, after three weeks' drills, is down to six seniors, 17 juniors and 28 sophomores.

Wyatt and three members of his staff scouted the Maroons in their 14-20 loss to Florida State Saturday and they came away vividly impressed with the over-all strength of the team.

"They showed me a terrific ground game, a lot of fleet and hard-running backs four as fine as you'll find on any one team and plenty of guts, rugged line," said Wyatt.

The companies would build the communications system and lease it to the Air Force at regular charges for a 10-year period. En-

Police Search for Blonde in Kidnaping

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee launched an investigation today of what House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts called a "bonanza contract" between the Air Force and private telephone companies.

The Air Force replied that the contract plans had been fully reported to congressional committees earlier this year, and that Congress had already appropriated "substantial" funds for sites and construction of facilities. It said cancellation of the contract now might make the government liable for a penalty which could reach 222 million dollars.

At issue is a contract for conversion of the present air defense communications system to a "semiautomatic ground environment" (SAGE) system. The Air Force contract is with a group of private companies headed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Western Electric Co.

The companies would build the communications system and lease it to the Air Force at regular charges for a 10-year period. En-

Duchin Story Combines Music, Drama

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some people get bitten by the acting bug, others inherit the disease. Tyrone Power is one of the latter.

In his case, it goes "way back." He is the third of the acting Tyrone Powers, and the most famous in the line. His family background helps explain why he will soon be abandoning Hollywood for the stage.

Tyrone could find enough leading roles here to keep him busy for a lifetime.

In a statement to which a copy of the ruling was attached, McCormack called "the Dixon-Vicksburg deal small in comparison to what is involved in this transaction, which he said is a very secret effort to bypass Congress."

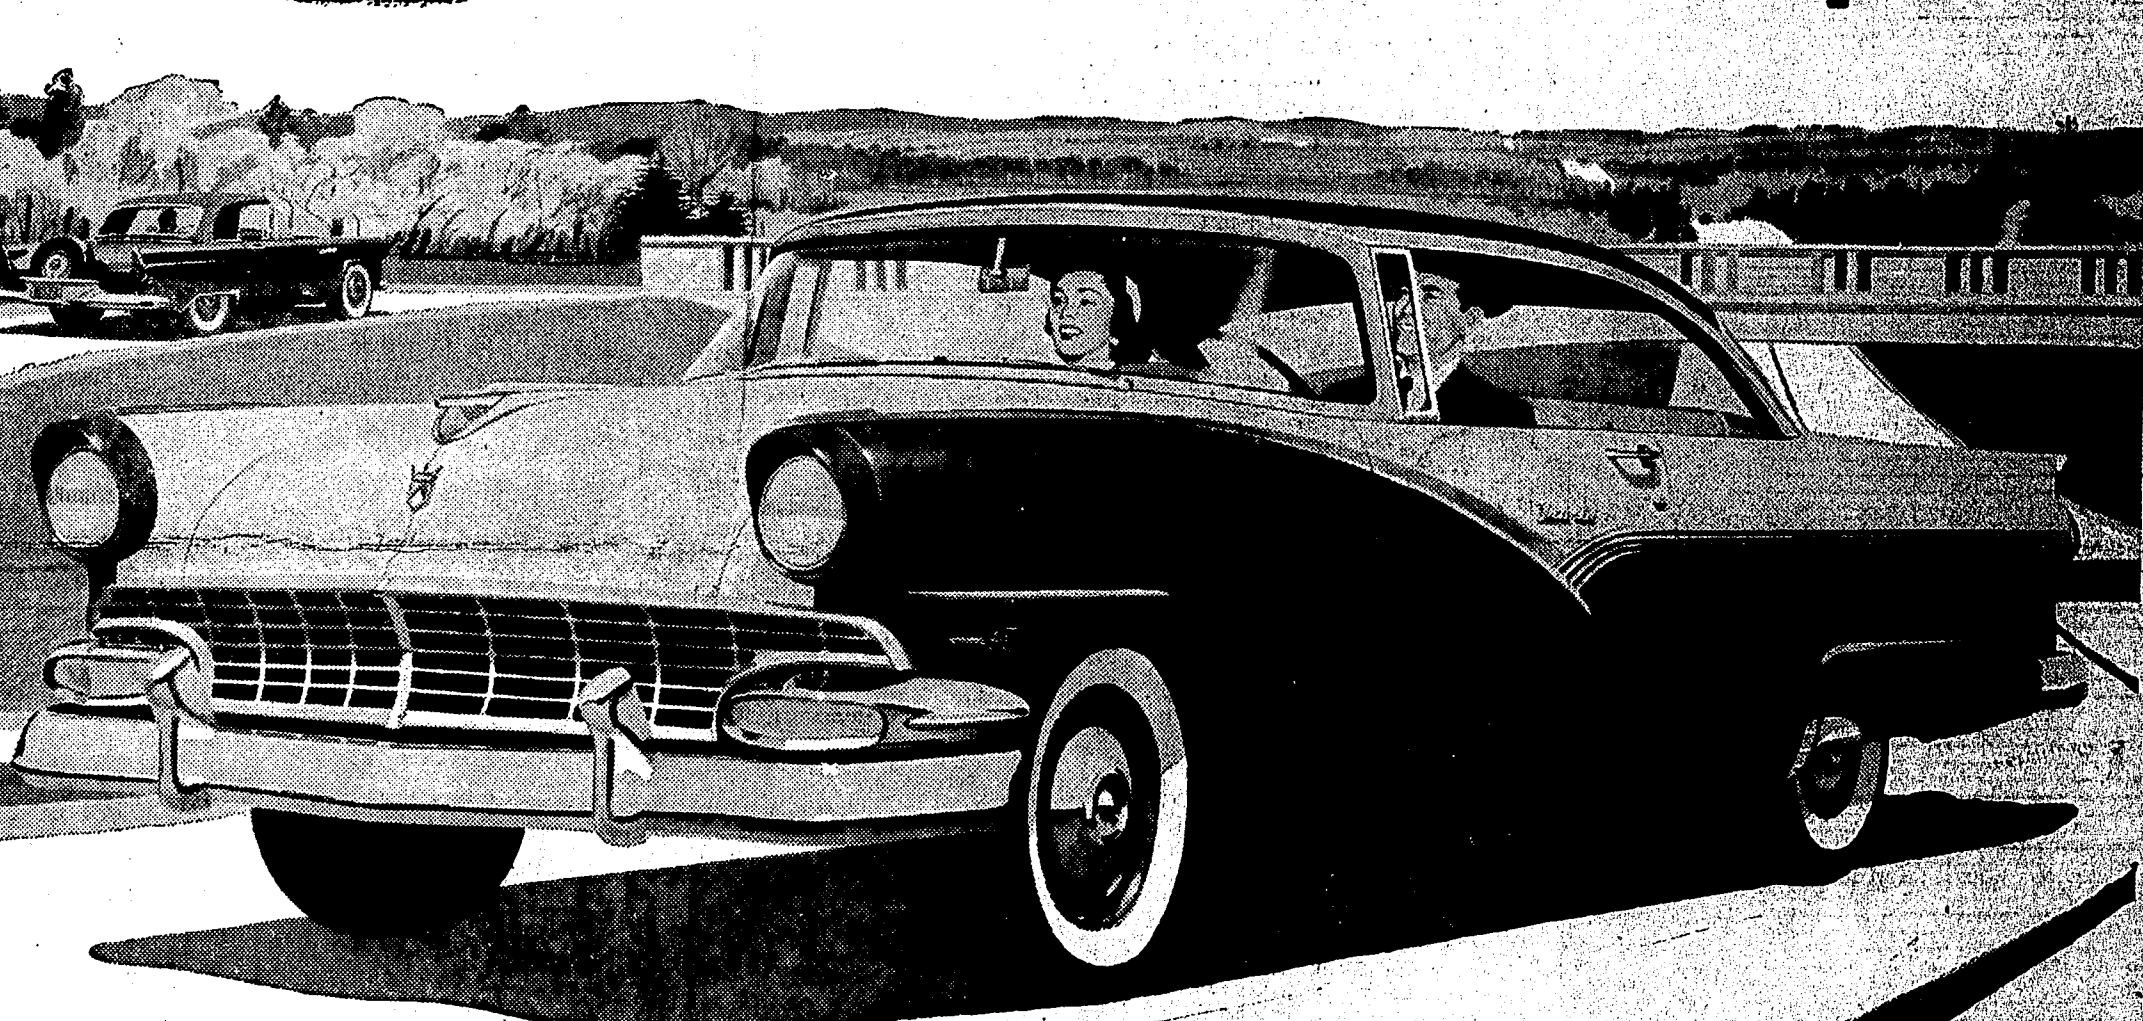

Under the contract AT&T and the Western Electric are to finance the necessary engineering, construction and installation of equipment at eight combat centers and 23 direction centers and to provide service to the government at a cost of as much as $40 million annually. They will retain ownership of the facilities.

Chapter XXXIV

Dr. Lund was smiling a distant smile. "You logic," Mr. Lynch said. "You logic, I am true I could miss." "Quite. Thank you for that admission, Mr. Dibble." "Reg's handsome mouth twitched usually. 'Mr. Lynch, in one particular, closely resemble Mr. Sand. You love money. You will do almost anything to get it.' 'Almost.' 'In the crucial hours this morning you had a unique advantage. You possessed a revolver which was in excellent working order. Your respect for the somewhat absurd carnival of the lic-versus-private power, and what the Democrats say as their favorite toward the boys' ness.

"ONE LEFT. 'ATLANTA, Ga., (UPI) — Some 2,000 residents here had only one taxicab today. State revenue agents confiscated 13 of the vehicles which were used for transporting bootleggers, 'moonshiners'.

"You are not a German," Souhani gravely nodded a second, then saw he couldn't get away with it. "No," he conceded. "But," Lynch persisted, "you are of the same political persuasion."

"You agree them," he said rapidly, "with the generally prevailing opinion that the late Josef Stalin was a butcher and a tyrant." Souhani's well-disciplined face lost its habitual control. His eyes flickered. His lips parted to speak but no words came.

"Thank you," said Lynch. "Manfred Braun, as we will call him, has been living in the Eastern zone. We know that, for we have his papers. You, Mr. Souhani, are a Soviet official, though not a Russian. It was never your plan that the gold hoard was to be used for it — originally intended purpose. I suspect that Meer's 'Fuehrer' in exchange for so handsome a payment, would be given appropriate powers and honors under the Communist regime."

"What?" Meer was shouting again. "Be quiet," Lynch ordered. "As a servant of the Cominform, however, Mr. Souhani, you had no intention of carrying out that promise. After your two gullible Germans had led you to the chests you had no further use for them. You put the more troublesome of the two out of your way last night."

"You would have to prove that, Mr. Lynch," Souhani said steadily, believe, though, Mr. Souhani, that you were confronted with a difficulty. This voyage originated in Bremen, in the British Zone of the German Federal Republic. It was Mr. Sand's intention to return to the same port. Neither the Occupation authorities nor the Bonn government so lax that it would be possible to transport two tons of gold safely behind the Iron Curtain. It was incumbent on you to make some other arrangement, Captain Carey!"

Dr. Lund was smiling a distant smile. "You logic," Mr. Lynch is persuasive. It is true I could have been a doctor."

"Quite. Thank you for that admission, Mr. Dibble!"

"Reg's handsome mouth twitched with a smile. "You turn!"

"You, Mr. Dibble, in one particular, strongly resemble Mr. Sand. I have a hunch you will do almost anything to get it."

"In the crucial hours this morning you had a unique advantage. You were the only person with information where the chests were hidden. You possess a revolver which is the only one in the room in proper order. Your respect for the law and the rights of others as a man of law is severely limited. Your victim had not gone at all. I am sure you will do the right thing."

Lynch was momentarily distressed. "Er, yes."

Miss Wyndham was sitting next to me. I heard her say under her breath: "His name is..."

"Mr. Sand!" Lynch snapped. "What is your role in this?"

"I am a doctor," said the man who was called "Herr Braun's," Sohanal said slowly.

Legacy Lee Really Likes to Write Songs

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — The lively, energetic, and sometimes biting was rocking.

The pianist was pounding out a rhythmic melody and bass as the singer strummed furiously. The piano and the singer were joined by the drums, which were being played against the piano and moaning of the piano. The singer, dressed plainly in a yellow shirt and trousers, was singing with a powerful, almost guttural voice.

After a half-hour of this, he called a halt for sandwiches and a drink and collapsed in a chair. "This is awfully hard work,"

[illegible]

"What," Meer was shouting again.

"Be quiet," Lynch ordered. "As servant of the Cominform, however, Mr. Sohanui, you hadn't intention of carrying out this mission, eh? After your two glibbie German had led you to the chests you had no further use for them. You out of the more troublesome of the two out of your way last night."

"You would have," Meer said, at Lynch's Sohanui said steadily, "I believe, though, Mr. Sohanui, at you were confronted with a German. This voyage originated in Bremen, in the British zone of the Federal Republic, it is a certainty. Mr. Sohanui's intention to return the same port. Neither the De-mission authorities nor the Bonn government so lax that it would be possible to transport two men gold safely behind the Iron Curtain. It was incumbent on you to make some other arrangements, Captain Carey."

The renegade Irishman, his big hands clasped in his knees and listening with such uneasy concentration of the sudden pre-arrangement his name made an audibly grunt.

"Lynch held out his hand. 'I requested you to bring some of its with you. May I have them?'"

Carey fished in a hip pocket, brought out a pair of linked steel cables.

"Carey, you are a wanted man in England. For desertion, I suspect, from the Royal Navy. Am to take it, then, that you are a man without loyalties?"

"You are not!"

"Money, great sums of money," Meer went on almost dreamily, "bolsh in many men even the poorest Irish boys. But as you lay, focus of these crimes, the gold if, has now been put beyond the reach of the routine law."

"I strongly advise you, Captain Carey, to make a full confession."
 "My jet black teeth seemed to me," he said, "as if they were made of ice in a frigid, bitter line. They ached at the floor."
 "Very well and I will!"
 "I cry down a dead breath and cut off into space."
 Mr. Sohanak has thought to me, me, mistakenly I will hardly be, as by, putting into me 1000, covens, - re are now in safe keeping my cabin against such time, when I will believe, as I would think, that they are to be with the fullest explanation.
 The Russian had also said that he could get in addition to what when the chests were safely ashore.
 "Where," Lynch it prompted.
 "They shot him a final look of hate, and he came in the East part of Germany, as to take the Victoria made out of the sea, you see, for you promise that no one would be to go to the "But, Sir," said Lynch, "Mr. Sohanak's confession will pay Mr. Sohanak's debts."
 "I am not sure," said Lynch, "but I think it will."
